

SUPREME COURT DISSOLVES HARRIMAN RAILWAY MERGER

Declares Sherman Antitrust Law Has Been Violated; Directs Utah Federal Court to Supervise Separation Process

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2. The great Harriman merger, created when the Union Pacific Railroad company bought 46 per cent of the stock of the Southern Pacific system, was split asunder today by the supreme court of the United States as a violation of the Sherman antitrust law.

Perthuis used the famous Arnold violin loaned him for his present tour by "Chaloner B. Schley" and valued at $15,000.

Following the concert a reception was held at the Astors hotel, which was attended by a large assemblage of musical people and which was one of the most brilliant affairs ever given in this city.

Many Americans Attend Services Confering Red Hats on Dignitaries

ROME, Dec. 2.—The pope today officially announced the appointment of the following foreign prelates: Right Rev. Dennis O'Connell, bishop of Richmond; Right Rev. Patrick A. McGovern, bishop of Cheverus; Right Rev. Austin Dowling, bishop of Des Moines; and the Rev. Edward J. Hanna, auxiliary bishop of San Francisco.

A consistory was held by the pope today at which the red hat was placed on the heads of several prelates, who, with Archbishop Farley of New York and Archbishop O'Connell of Boston, were on Nov. 27, 1911, designated cardinals. They are: Francis X. Nagle, archbishop of Vienna; Giuseppe Maria Cosmo Machi, archbishop of Valladolid; Antonio Vico, papal nuncio to Spain; Francis S. By ALBERT C. PEARSON.

Louis Persinger's second recital given at the Burns last night, has but deepened the impression made by the first. To my thinking we have to deal with a virtuoso of the first rank. Of course he has not reached the plenitude of his powers. That could hardly be said of any man of 24, but his present mentality is so fine, his attitude toward his art is so wholesome, that it is fairly safe to predict that in a few years Louis Persinger will be accepted as one of the greatest artists.

His best qualities may retard this recognition. His playing is so unselfish, so free from the spectacular, so entirely musical, that people who care for brilliancy alone may be disappointed.

But such playing as Louis Persinger is bound in the long run to capture humanity, for humanity loves noble singing, and that our artist has in a marked degree.

That is to say, he has the one thing needed. His other splendid acquisitions are but subordinate instruments and aids for the expression of his high gift.

The program was received with enthusiasm and the artist had to respond to numerous encores. The very first phrase of the Handel sonata was spoken with authority and the interest this caught was held to the end of the program. The numbers that in my opinion

WILSON LISTENS TO TARIFF TALK

ATTENDS SESSION OF BERMUDA CONGRESS

Wishes U. S. Would Adopt Plan of Revising the Budget Annually

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Dec. 2.—Woodrow Wilson heard today the first tariff discussion since his election as president of the United States. He visited the Bermuda parliament, where he was loudly cheered, and sat among the members for three hours listening to the debate on the vegetable schedules and observing the methods of budget legislation.

In reply to the welcome extended by the speaker, Mr. Wilson said: "I have been interested in the debate, thinking that if we every year went through the items of expenditure and revenue for 12 months there will be a continuous performance which would exceed anything the theaters ever produced. But the idea is an admirable one, because it affords the public a constant opportunity to review the changing circumstances of the colony. I have admired the businesslike manner of getting through the estimates."

While walking from the government house, Mr. Wilson said he thought a yearly revision of the American tariff schedules such as obtained in Bermuda would be impracticable. It would be impossible to discuss the estimates and revenue simultaneously, but he wished the United States would adopt some budget scheme.

The president-elect was a principal in a "test case" this morning. He rescued a honeymoon couple who fell from their bicycles in front of his house. The bride was slightly injured and one of Mr. Wilson's daughters assisted in bathing her wounds.

He exhibited his musicianship to the best advantage, were the first three movements of the Handel sonata, the Mattheson aria, which showed a splendid virile tone, the Bruck concerto, especially the adagio and finale, which were given an interpretation full of poetry and spontaneity by both performers, and the lovely Ave Maria, a song that seemed to sing itself.

The encore was in a lighter vein than the body of the programs and were effective exhibitions of daintiness, dash, poetry and sparkle. Evidently Louis Persinger is a born program maker.

By ARTHUR C. H. FRIEDMANN

It is a pleasure not often enjoyed by critics when their desire to say something in praise of a native son coincides so absolutely with the merits of the artist in question. And such is preeminently the case when I write about our Louis Persinger.

Just pride do we call him ours. For we know that not even the sunshine of his home city will ever be more widely known in the world than the violin playing of him who was reared in this atmosphere. To remain right in the same picture, I cannot think of a better comparison for the clearness of his lucid interpretation and his brilliant technique than the brightness and transparency of our mountain air, our sunshine and the endlessly wide vistas of our plains.

What can I add to the eulogies already bestowed upon him than simply state that they were even better deserved last night than on previous occasions. How can one criticize when it is so delightful to just enjoy. It is impossible for me to say what I most delighted in, but if anything must be especially mentioned, I would emphasize that characteristic lack of all distracting mannerisms so often found even in great artists, and that simplicity and depth of conception which shuns the appeal to the masses and speaks feelingly and not in vain to the noblest instincts of mankind. Louis Persinger is now on the narrow path to the top and nothing can stop him, for he has the purity, the intellect, the power and the sentiment of a genius.

Deliberations by Kansas Women Jury Begin With Prayer

ELDORADO, Kas., Dec. 2.—Deliberations by the first jury composed entirely of women that has ever tried a case in Kansas were begun with prayer.

Mrs. Harrie E. Riley, forewoman of that jury, which sat in a land damage suit here Friday, described today the feelings of the 12 women and their efforts to reach a verdict.

"We scarcely knew what to do after entering the jury room," Mrs. Riley said. "Then some woman said: 'I believe we should pray.' All heads bowed. One jury led in spoken supplication, and we plunged into discussion of the case."

"It seemed as if all were talking at once, but we were terribly in earnest. We had respected the judge's instructions, and for three days had not broached a word about the case. Naturally, there was much to be said." The case went to the jury at 8 o'clock at night, and three hours later the verdict awarding damages was returned. The husbands of the jurors had waited around to escort them home. Two years ago, the same case was tried by a jury of men, who failed to agree. Their vote was 7 to 5, after two days of balloting.

competition, it can reach combinations which render competition impracticable.

"Nor do we think it can make any difference that instead of reporting to a holding company, as was done in the Northern Securities case, the controlling interest in the stock of one corporation is transferred to the other. The domination and control, and the power to suppress competition, are acquired in the one case no less than in the other, and the resulting mischief, at which the statute was aimed, is equally effective whichever form is adopted."

Is Very Effective Form.

He added that a more effective form of combination to secure the control of a competing railroad than for one road to acquire a dominating stock interest in the other could hardly be conceived.

One by one Justice Day took up the arguments which the railways hoped to defeat the government's suit. He first considered the argument that the systems were not competitors but partners.

"To compete," said Justice Day, "is to strive for something which another is actively seeking and wishes to gain."

He quoted the testimony of railroad men that this was what the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific were doing at the time of the purchase.

Competition, he explained, was not the aim of the law. He explained that there was competition as to the character of service rendered and the accommodation afforded. He said that it made no difference that rates were not raised for the time being after the combination was effected.

The argument that the competitive traffic was infinitesimal he dismissed with the statement that it amounted to many millions of dollars.

Court Considers Effect.

Next he took up the argument that the Union Pacific was only a connecting road and really had no line to San Francisco, but was dependent upon the Southern Pacific for such terms as it could make over the old Central Pacific line from Ogden to San Francisco.

He said that that was going too far, that the Union Pacific's Portland route was available, and it would have been detrimental to the Southern Pacific to have declined an arrangement to carry the Union Pacific's business from Ogden to San Francisco.

"But this case is not to be decided on the theory," he continued, "that only so much of the Southern Pacific system as operates between Ogden and San Francisco has been acquired. The purchase may be judged by what in fact it has accomplished and the natural and probable consequence of that which was done. Because it would have been lawful to gain, by purchase or otherwise, an entrance into California over the old Central Pacific, does not render it legal to acquire the entire system, largely engaged in interstate commerce, in competition with purchasing road."

Justice Day replied to the argument that a majority of the stock had not been purchased, and therefore, no control had been acquired.

He quoted Mr. Harriman as saying that a compact, united ownership of

CHARLES P. TAFT WAS HEAVY CONTRIBUTOR

Gave $150,000 to Campaign to Aid Brother—Total Fund Was $904,828

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—Charles P. Taft of Cincinnati, brother of the president, led the contributors to the Republican campaign fund with $150,000, according to the final statement of the Republican national committee, filed with the clerk of the house today. The total contributions reached $904,828. The expenditures were $900,763 for speakers, salaries, advertising, rent and other purposes, including $75,000 to the American Association of Foreign Newspapers.

Of the list of individual contributions were items of $50,000 from Francis L. Leland of New York, $25,000 each from J. P. Morgan and Andrew Carnegie, while the Yale Taft class of '78 New Jersey contributed $125,000, and Harry B. Rosengarten, Philadelphia, $10,500.

Of President Taft's cabinet, Secretary of the Navy Meyer contributed $2,500 and Secretary Knox, Attorney General Wickersham and Postmaster Hitchcock $1,000 each. Among ambassadors, Lars Anderson, ambassador to Tokio, contributed $10,000; R. T. Kerens at Vienna, $5,000; Myron T. Herrick, ambassador to France, and T. J. Cullen to Italy, $1,500 each.

There were $10,000 lump contributions each from William Nelson Cromwell, Drexel & Co., the Union League club of Philadelphia, J. B. Ford, New York; Edwin S. and Charles W. Harkness of New York.

H. A. Hutchins and D. H. D. Hutchins of Norristown, N. J., combined, contributed $8,000; the Union League club of New York, and Adolph Lewisohn & Sons, $5,000 each; R. A. C. Smith, New York, $5,000.

Among the $2,000 contributions were Edw. Wilson, George Eustis of Washington, D. C.; Arthur C. James, A. T. Julliard, J. W. Seligman company, George R. Sheldon, Otto T. Rannard, F. G. Brown, George Leuder, Lloyd Bryce. Among the $2,000 contributions were Senator Root, Senator Wetmore, Senator Crane, former Senator Murphy of New Jersey, William A. Harburt of Baltimore, William Whitall, Boston; Henry Phigge Ogden Mills, J. W. Seligman & Co., William Steward Tood, all of New York.

The $1,000 contributors included Mrs. Lars Anderson, Mary M. Emery, Cincinnati; Mrs. Charles D. Norton, New York; Senators Sanders, Tennessee, and Dupont, Delaware; H. C. Frick of Pittsburgh, Robert T. Lincoln, Chicago; Mrs. Whitlaw Reid, former Mayor Seth Lowe, New York; Julius Fleischman, Cincinnati; Mrs. Russell Sage, Robert Ogden Mills, New York; W. Taft's brother of the president; Frank S. Streeter, Concord, N. H., and Representative Olmsted of Pennsylvania.

46 per cent of a big corporation was sufficient to control it.

Officials Not Surprised.

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—Officials of the Harriman system manifested no surprise when informed of the supreme court decision today against the Union Pacific merger, but declined to comment on its scope or general significance.

Wall street received the decision in the early afternoon, shortly after call. The stock of the Union Pacific fell two and a half points, to 168, and Southern Pacific two points, to 108.4. Almost at the same time Union Pacific preferred stock up from 99 1/2 to 100, and Southern Pacific 4 per cent bonds were rushed up six and a half points.

The rise in Union Pacific preferred was said to be based on belief that it would be likely to share equally with the common in any distribution or readjustment of securities, entailed by today's decision. This was a debatable point, and Harriman representatives refused any information on the subject.

As for Southern Pacific bonds, their rise was attributed to possible retirement at par and interest should the merger be taken over by Union Pacific, as intimated in the supreme court's decision.

Southern Pacific owns all the common stock of Central Pacific, in consideration of which Southern Pacific issued an equal amount of the collateral 4's.

Unsettling Temporary.

While the Harriman stocks were falling, the balance of the list made one of two point declines, but the unsettling was little more than temporary, most issues covering the greater part of their loss before the dull close.

United States Steel was a conspicuous exception, showing more heaviness than any other leading stock.

The manner in which the securities of the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific roads may be readjusted will call for a greater degree of legal skill than was entailed in the dissolution resulting from the Northern Securities decision.

Bankers interested in the Harriman properties and other financiers identified with important railroad systems were inclined to regard the supreme court decree as a logical outcome of the Northern Securities decision.

The same interests point to the Standard Oil and American Tobacco cases, however, indicating that "segregation" of the Harriman lines need work no harm to holders of the securities involved.

In that portion of his report treating of fortifications, General Bixby states that the plans of the national coast defense board are sufficient for present needs. He submits estimates on account of the appropriations in the United States proper, aggregating $1,111,000, some of the details being for gun and mortar batteries, modernizing old emplacements, $100,000; electrical installations, $50,000; searchlights, $20,000; stores for fortifications, $150,000; and preservation and repair to forts, $300,000.

For the fortifications in the insular possessions, the estimates aggregate $1,228,865, including sea coast batteries for Hawaii, for the Philippines, $1,000,000; for electrical installation, $34,468; for casemates and galleries for mines in the Philippines, $67,000.

Reville, assistant attorney general of Missouri, arguing today before Special Commissioner Dillon in the suit to oust from the state the St. Louis Dressing and Provision company and the Hammond Packing company of St. Joseph, declared that the National Packing company of which the two smaller concerns were a part, was merely a "shadow" corporation and a cloak for the weekly meetings in Chicago of the Armour, Swift and Morris interests to fix prices and control trade.

Lift Blockades First. LONDON, Dec. 2.—The Sofia correspondent of the Times says: "The Turks would only consent to raise the Turkish blockade on the Black sea on condition that the Greeks raise the blockade on the Aegean. It is doubtful whether the Greek government will agree to this."

"Doubtless the early fall of Adrianople would expedite the negotiations. The final possession of Adrianople is regarded here as a sine qua non."

Turkey Acts Slowly. BERLIN, Dec. 2.—"Bulgaria is trying to promote an amicable settlement between Austria and Servia," says a Przemysl. Around Lemberg and along the frontier, entrenchments are being dug and the vast plain covered with wire entanglements to check the possible advance of Russian cavalry.

The second or eastern army is gathering in Transylvania and Bukovina, along the Russian frontier. The third, or southern army, will operate partly from the south of Hungary against Belgrade and Semendia, to force a passage over the Danube into Moravia valley and partly from Bosnia and Herzegovina against the western Serbian frontier and the Senjak of Novi-bazar."

GOLD DOLLAR EXPECTS TO PAY REGULAR DIVIDENDS

That the Gold Dollar Consolidated Mining company will be able to pay quarterly dividends for a long time to come is the statement made in the report sent out by President H. L. Shepherd of the company, in accompanying checks for dividend No. 8, which was paid yesterday. The company is now doing a great deal of development work, and is shipping considerable ore, and there are 12 sets of leases operating on the property at the present time. Shepherd states that the development work is being watered the mines of the district at the rate of four or five inches per day. The report of A. E. The food was nearly all donated by local merchants, and other individuals contributed liberally to the cost of the dinner, and to all these the mission extends its heartfelt thanks.

CHRISTMAS SHOPPERS GETTING EARLY START

Christmas shopping started in earnest yesterday, and the majority of the stores were crowded during the afternoon. That the campaign for early trading is beginning to take effect upon the majority of the buyers is the opinion of a number of merchants, who look for the next three weeks to be the busiest holiday shopping season for many years. The Christmas stock is already on hand, and special preparations for window decorations are being made by many of the business men.

Army of Office Seekers Besiege Democrats in Chicago Before Daylight

CHICAGO, Dec. 2.—Democratic office seekers crowded the corridors of the city hall and county building before daylight this morning as a preliminary to the newly-elected officials assuming their duties today. At 4 o'clock in the morning, the throng of job hunters numbered several hundred and an extra force of halliffs was necessary to maintain order. For the first time in several years the Democrats have control of practically all the city and county offices and the men for the places held by Republicans led Democratic party workers to appear at the public buildings long before daylight.

CASCARELS CLEANSE LIVER AND BOWELS.

The Millions of Cascarel Users Never Have Headache, Constipation, Biliousness or Sick Stomach

It is more necessary that you keep your Bowels, Liver and Stomach clean, pure and fresh than it is to keep the sewers and drainage of a city free from obstruction. Are you keeping clean inside with Cascarels—or are you taking a passageway every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil. This is important.

Cascarels immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases, make the excess bile flow the liver and carry out of the system the consipated waste matter and poison in the intestines and bowels. No odds how long and how often you take a Cascarel tonight, it will strengthen you out by morning. This work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels regular for months. Don't forget the children, their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing too. Adv.

PENSION BUREAU IS STARTING NEW PLAN

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—The new system of paying all pensions on the federal pension rolls direct from Washington instead of through local pension agencies is being inaugurated by the pension bureau. Checks are being sent 30,000 pensioners in the section heretofore covered by the agencies at Augusta, Ga.; Boston, Colorado, Detroit, Washington and San Francisco.

The employees of the agencies at Indianapolis, Louisville, Louisville, New York, Philadelphia and St. Louis, which have completed their November payments, will begin to be sent into Washington, the first of the agency transfers to the pension bureau. For the first time in history the pensioners will be paid without the formality of vouchers, the checks serving the same purpose by a requirement of endorsement by the pensioner in the presence of the agency. The pensioner also must appear to the agency with his certificate, the number of which must tally with the certificate number on the checks.

The new system obviates the necessity of receipts from the pensioners.

CONAN DOYLE BELIEVES CHANNEL TUNNEL POSSIBLE

LONDON, Dec. 2.—The suggested tunnel between England and the French coast—the completion of which, the big navy party in Great Britain emphatically asserts, would be immediately followed by the invasion and downfall of England—has received strong support from Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, in a speech which he delivered at the inaugural dinner of the Franco-British Travel union.

Sir Arthur considered that the building of the channel tunnel was a matter of such urgent national necessity that it should be pressed forward at once to completion. But it should be a government undertaking. It might prove to be a national investment equal or superior to the Suez canal shares. It would, he said, have a double set of advantages in peace and war. In peace it would bring an enormous tourist traffic to London, and in war it would be cheap and complete insurance against national starvation. He knew one point—and only one on which Lord Roberts and Lord Haldane were in complete agreement. It was that if they lost command of the sea—even for a short time, they would be forced to make a dishonorable peace.

Town's Lighting Plant Will Soon Float Away

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 2.—The electric light plant which has supplied the town of Ocos, Guatemala, for the last four years, is about to lift anchor and depart. Four years ago a big steamer of the Jomares line, en route to San Francisco from European ports, was carried in shoal water near Ocos by a tidal wave. She rested on an even keel with her machinery undamaged, but efforts to refloat her failed. An enterprise from Guatemala was organized and proceeded to keep the ship's dynamo busy. A Philadelphia salvage concern has succeeded in refloating the ship, however, and oil lamps soon will be the fashion in Ocos.

Cecil Lyon.

SUBMIT BUDGET BY DEPARTMENT HEADS

Will Cost $823,415,455.14 to Run Government Until June 30, 1914

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—It will cost $823,415,455.14 to conduct the affairs of the government for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1914, according to the estimates of the various department heads submitted today to the speaker of the house by the secretary of the treasury. This amount, which does not include any provision for the postal service, which is expected to be self-supporting, is an increase of $72,074,248 over the appropriations made for the present year by the last congress.

Of this increase, $28,312,220 appears in the estimates of the secretary of the navy and $20,507,297 represents the increase asked by the navy department in the appropriations for building and equipping the new vessels. The estimates would provide for three new battleships to be laid down during the year. This would make up for the lapse of one ship from the two battleships in a year program caused by the action of the Democratic house in providing for but a single ship at the last session of congress.

Another $20,000,000, or more of the total increase is shown in the estimates for the payment of pensions. The amount asked for is $180,220,000. Last year but $165,140,740 was expended for pensions, an increase of about the same amount appears in the estimates for public works for the year. The construction of public buildings planned for the year shows an increase of $1,012,000 over the appropriations for the present year. $5,722,290 being asked for that purpose. The work to be done during the year on the Panama canal will cost $30,174,432, which is $1,130,567 less than the appropriations for the current year.

Of this sum, $6,769,222 is asked for the purpose of building fortifications and military barracks in the canal zone. This year but $2,320,000 was appropriated for fortifications at Panama.

The estimates forecast another billion dollars session of congress, for in addition to the $823,415,455, which is the total estimated for the postmaster general estimates that his department for the year. This amount will be supplied out of the postal revenues, and will bring the total estimated appropriations for the year up to $1,105,206,963.

Just how these estimates will fare at the hands of the Democratic majority in the house is the subject of considerable conjecture. Some difficulty in passing appropriation bills may follow disagreements between the house and senate. But the supply measures to be passed on the basis of the estimates submitted today, will go into effect after the Democrats have taken control of the government and it is expected that the attitude of the house majority on the questions involved in the estimates will forecast the attitude of the coming administration.

Among the estimates, which will develop debate in congress, is a demand for $250,000 for the economy and efficiency commission, organized by President Taft.

It was with a total of $8,000,000 was secured for the economy and efficiency commission this year, and the house committee took with little action on the bill.

Another budget bill, which will be an estimate of $4,000,000 for the economy and efficiency commission, was introduced in the house yesterday. It was introduced by the committee on the economy and efficiency commission, and it is expected that it will be passed by the house before the end of the fiscal year.

The general furnishing up of the White house for President-elect Wilson is contemplated by the estimates, which would provide for new roofs for the east and west wings of the executive mansion and would make available $15,000 for redecorating the west room, the red room and the blue room.

The exact total of salaries, in many instances can be only estimated. Such is the case with the land commissioners' total. The commissioners receive only small yearly salaries, but in addition receive fees. A low general average has been used in the computations, and the absolute totals would probably be considerably more. Under the conditions it is likely that the new president will have close to a million dollars' worth of salaries to dispose of in Colorado.

DEMOCRATIC RUSH WILL SOON BE ON IN COLORADO TO GET FEDERAL PLUMS

DENVER, Dec. 2.—Woodrow Wilson as the next Democratic president of the United States will have over half a million dollars' worth of patronage to dole out in jobs to the hungry party faithful of Colorado. It may come late to some but there are many who are willing to wait. And scarcely any Democrat who feels that he has a claim on the party for services in the past and desires a federal position has not already made at least a conversational bid for a job with the man who he thinks will have the disposal of the appointment.

The federal positions in Colorado that will become vacant during Mr. Wilson's regime tabulate as follows:

STRATHCONA'S HEIRESS TO WED LIEUTENANT

He is reputed to be worth between $20,000,000 and $40,000,000, so that in the ordinary course of events Mrs. Howard will be the richest woman in England, if not in the world.

MELTING ITS OBLIGATIONS

IF the Christian church has failed in its full duty in helping to solve the great social problems confronting our civilization, it must at least be acknowledged even by its harshest critics that in the past few years it is rapidly awakening to its duty—a duty that is at the same time its greatest opportunity. On Wednesday the federal council of Churches of Christ in America, representing 33 denominations, with a total membership of 17,000,000, will assemble in Chicago to agree upon a unified plan for the carrying on of social work in America.

Four years ago, when the council was organized, it was decided that the social planks to be advocated by the American churches should include old age pensions, abolition of child labor, a living wage, reduction of the hours of labor, equitable distribution of the products of industry and protection of women workers. The very fact that representatives of the church should decide upon a program as radical as that is in itself a complete refutation of the oft-repeated assertion that the church is completely in the control of special privilege.

But, so rapid has been the development of the social idea in the past four years, that it is likely the program to be agreed upon at the forthcoming session of the council will go much farther than the first one. It is believed that among the planks to be adopted this year will be the following: Protection of the family by the single standard of morality for men and women; regulation of marriage; proper housing; the fullest development of the child by education and recreation; the safeguarding of the right of all men to an opportunity for self-maintenance; the protection of workers from the hardship of enforced unemployment; the conservation of health, and THE PREVENTION OF POVERTY.

That last clause deserves to be capitalized. When the church seriously takes up that problem it is getting right at the heart of social injustice. The prevention of poverty will mean the entire economic readjustment of the nation. But poverty must be prevented if we are ever to have the brotherhood which Jesus came to establish, and certainly it rests with the church to take the leadership in this essentially moral warfare.

When once the 17,000,000 members of the churches represented at this council of Churches of Christ in America are thoroughly aroused to a full realization of the social evils caused by poverty, when once they have become convinced that poverty is not a necessary evil, but one that can be eradicated, if it is approached in the spirit of Christ, then this age-old evil will at last be in a fair way of solution.

And the light is fast breaking upon these 17,000,000 church members, too.

CONGRESS AGAIN

THE short session of congress, that began yesterday, is not likely to be marked by the passage of any constructive legislation. Democrats and Republicans alike will probably be willing enough to leave tariff, trust control and other disputed matters alone until they are taken up in the forthcoming special session.

About all that will be done in the present session will be the passage of the necessary appropriation bills—a big enough task in itself, inasmuch as the total appropriations will amount to over $1,000,000,000. The numerous investigating committees will endeavor to complete their work, so that their reports may be ready for submission at the next session. Democrats will probably spend considerable time in discussing the tariff in caucus, with the purpose of having the revision bills ready by the time the special session meets.

There are a few bills that may become law, among which are Senator Borah's measure creating the department of labor, the Sheppard-Kenyon bill forbidding shipments of liquor into "dry" territory, the Page bill for vocational training and the various single presidential term amendments. The senate, also, will be occupied with the impeachment trial of Judge Arch-hold of the commerce court.

In all the proceedings, however, there will probably be observable a jockeying for position on the part of members of all three parties. "Playing politics" will be the favorite game of the session.

PICTURES FOR TEXT BOOKS

THOMAS ALVA EDISON plans to revolutionize the school system. Moving pictures instead of books will teach the boy and girl of the future, if his prediction is fulfilled. There is no gainsaying the value of pictures in teaching this has been recognized for years, and pictures have always been used to illustrate and explain the text.

But the value of pictures has been increased a hundred-fold by the discovery of motion pictures. Life in all its phases, from every quarter of the globe, can now be thrown upon the screen. Processes of manufacture, pictures of life in many lands, physical and chemical experiments, and even the development of life itself infinitesimal life discoverable only by the aid of the microscope can be shown in every detail.

Whether moving pictures will go quite as far as Mr. Edison expects in supplanting books in education is doubtful, but, if the pictures can be secured at a moderate cost, there seems to be no question but that they will revolutionize education. Certainly, for the children, they will make school a new and wonderful place.

NOW FOR PEACE

WITH the signing of the armistice between the Balkan allies and Turkey today the period of the war that all Europe has most dreaded will have begun the determination of the peace terms. Judging from the comparative ease with which the allies concluded the armistice with Turkey there will be no insurmountable difficulties in the way of reaching terms with the port. But it may not be so easy to satisfy Austria and the other great powers, while there is a possibility that the allies themselves will be unable to agree on a division of the territory they have conquered from Turkey.

As all the prophets of gloom have been disappointed, however, in the fact that the war itself has ended without stirring up either a general European war or a quarrel among the allies, possibly they will be disappointed also in the settlement of peace terms. Turkey having already, in agreeing to the terms of the armistice, having acknowledged herself thoroughly beaten, there is no reason why a satisfactory peace cannot be arranged.

THOSE TOUCHY STANDPATTERS

WHENEVER a minister of the gospel in these days touches upon questions of social justice in the pulpit he is accused by the standpat press of seeking the destruction of the Republican party. The Kansas City Journal denounces a pastor who, on Thanksgiving, preached a "socialistic" sermon, in which, to quote the very orthodox standpat Journal, he "stated that all should be thankful that a savior had been sent to eliminate the oppressor and aid the oppressed and downtrodden; to see that wrongs were righted for the people and truth and virtue crowned."

Is it any wonder, in the face of the preaching of such heresy, that a member of the Republican county committee, who was present, should indignantly have left the building?

A CITY THAT CAN READ

WITH an illiterate population of only 9 per cent, Colorado Springs ranks among the very foremost cities in the Union in education. The percentage of illiteracy in the country at large is 10.7 per cent. These two percentages, side by side, show what a splendid record Colorado Springs has made in the education of its children.

To be the city in Colorado having the smallest percentage of illiteracy is an honor of which the citizens of Colorado Springs may well be proud.

FROM OTHER PLNS. PRESIDENT'S CABINET. From the Philadelphia Public Ledger. The more or less amusing voluntary attempts that have been made from Maine to California since the election to select Governor Wilson's cabinet for him have been inspired chiefly by a desire to compliment or to add individuals in whom the proposers had a personal or political interest. If the subject had been considered from the standpoint of Governor Wilson's interests or the public interest, perhaps few of the many names mentioned would have been included.

The country as a whole is genuinely desirous of having the president-elect succeed with his administration. This is another era of good feeling, and citizens of all parties, except the very few narrow partisans, would rather see even a politically antagonistic administration succeed than to have any hurt come to the government. The vivid interest in the cabinet is testimony to the general understanding of the fact that the heads of departments in the federal government play a vital part in the administration, and that the personal character, ability, reputation and tact of the president's official family determine in many instances the fate of an administration.

the president is accorded by law, custom and general consent absolute freedom in the choice of his secretaries of state, treasury, interior and so on, because the must of necessity assume the entire responsibility for many acts on the most momentous questions when the judgment of his "minister" has been accepted and followed. By the very nature of the case, no president, in the administration of the affairs of the United States at this day, can possibly grasp all the problems or gain anything more than a superficial knowledge of the main points at issue in many problems.

A president must have some men of high capacity in his cabinet, and the idea that he is not merely a formal support, but a sympathetic and aggressive "loyalty." There is a very general feeling that Mr. Taft suffered greatly by reason of the unfortunate chain of circumstances incident to his administration. He retained in office Roosevelt men who, it appeared, were spying on him in a hostile spirit and reporting his supposed deviations from "my policies" to their real master; and as lately as the recent campaign there was a secretary or two who seemed to be in much doubt whether to stand by their chief at all, they finally grudgingly concluded that though they loved Mr. Taft's chief political enemy, they would, nevertheless, on the whole, after mature consideration, and after taking into account every phase of the question, retain their official offices and make a few hot and cold speeches in the campaign. A plague on such loyalty!

Fortunately Governor Wilson is under no necessity, "express or implied," to please anyone save himself and the people; he is free to choose not only able men of character, but if he is wise he will make a point to select only those whose reputation will carry conviction to the public mind. In choosing a cabinet, character and ability are not enough; the appointees must have reputation for both qualities if the administration is to evoke enthusiasm and confidence.

It may be assumed that Governor Wilson will disregard all solicitation, and it is to be hoped that he will succeed in assembling a cabinet of all the talents, in order that his administration may not begin under any unnecessary handicaps.

THE COTTON PICKERS.

From the Chicago Tribune. Cheering thought for the official Republican party in the south when it goes out into the field to pick cotton next year or totes its fried pork and corn bread in a little bucket into the mills:

Roosevelt defeated Taft in every southern state except two—defeated him by anywhere from 1,000 votes to 50,000. If the official Republican party of the south had voted in Chicago in June as the people of the south vote in November the official Republican party might be looking forward to pleasant days of distributing letters, drifting gently around revenue districts, or sitting importantly in court rooms.

This thought will send the official Republican party of the south whistling merrily to the cotton fields and the mills.

When Love Is Blind

By RUTH CAMERON.

Love is a queer thing. And "love is blind" in more ways than the lover's inability to see "the pretty follies they themselves commit." Love is also blind in the strange ways in which it gropes and grasps after what it wants in exactly the wrong direction.

A young woman who has been married a little over a year was telling me of a recent storm which had ruffled her matrimonial seas.

It seems that "himself"—we'll call him John because that was not his name—had planned to go off for the week end on a hunting trip with two of his bachelor friends.

His wife was horrified. "Just think of that!" said she, "he was going to leave me for two whole days! You can imagine how heartbroken I felt."

"He didn't go then?" I asked. "I should say not," said the lady. "I told him it showed he didn't love me any more, and finally I broke down and just cried and cried and he was frantic. He said, of course, he wouldn't go, that he'd stay at home and do anything I wanted. And so we are going to the theater and have a little dinner afterwards—his hunting trip would have cost every bit as much. Isn't that lovely?"

"And you are perfectly satisfied?" "Of course," she said, round-eyed. "Why shouldn't I be?"

"Why didn't you want John to go?" I probed a bit further. "Wasn't there anything you would have liked to do? Why didn't you say that visit you've promised so long?"

"Oh, it wasn't that. I could have found plenty to do. It just didn't seem to me that John loved me the way he used to if he wanted to go way off like that on his day off."

"I didn't probe any further. Poor, foolish little woman. She was satisfied and yet she hadn't in the least altered the main fact, which was, of course, that her husband WANTED to go."

With the eternally feminine weapon she had forced him to give up the trip, but he probably WANTED it just as much as ever—if not more. And yet it was whether he WANTED to leave her, not whether he DID, that was the real criterion of his desire for her society.

I think women often make the great mistake of missing his distinction. When a jealous woman by tears or threats makes her husband promise to give up some other woman's society, she feels she has accomplished something. In reality she has accomplished nothing—or less. For she hasn't made him cease wanting the other woman's presence, which was, of course, the real issue. The way to make a man prefer one's society to that of other women most emphatically is not to force it on him by tears and scenes.

The lady of the hunting trip would have laid a far better foundation for future comradeship if she had let her man go and find out how glad he was to get back to her. The jealous woman can do nothing by force and exactions; it must all be done by tact and by using every charm she has to the utmost.

And love is blinder than the proverbial bat when it fails to recognize these things.

Modern Inventions

By GEORGE FITCH, Author of "At Good Old Siwash"

An electric sign is a piece of long distance reading matter published at meter rates.

Electric signs are printed on the black night in neat golden letters and can be seen a great ways. By means of these signs the main street of a great city now looks like the advertising section of a popular magazine magnified a hundred times and set on fire. Electric signs are indigenous to

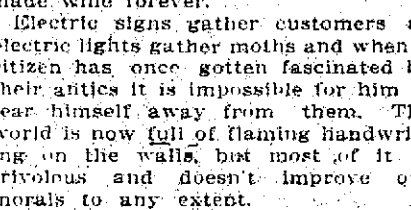

"Long distance reading matter published at meter rates."

America and when the Englishman arrives in this country and sees his first eruption of 32-candlepower remarks, he is afraid to walk up Broadway without a fire extinguisher.

Away back in the early ages of science, some 10 years ago, electric signs were quiet and well behaved. But as competition grew keener some genius invented an electric sign which would wink. This was followed by a sign which went out for refreshments every half minute, thus leaving the world gasping for information until it returned. From this point signs became constantly more disorderly until an ordinary American business street looks like a Fourth of July celebration each night after dark. Incandescent horses haul chariots across the sky in mad races, incandescent champagne bottles shoot flaming red corks at Mars and dainty 30-foot incandescent legs kick holes in the zenith from the tops of 20-story buildings. If Benjamin Franklin, who made the first timid overtures to electricity in the country, should return and gaze on New York at night, he would swear off on home-made wine forever.

Electric signs gather customers as electric lights gather moths and when a citizen has once gotten fascinated by their antics it is impossible for him to tear himself away from them. The world is now full of flaming handwriting on the walls, but most of it is frivolous and doesn't improve our morals to any extent.

Enough of the new city hell was completed to show that it would present a very good appearance when completed. This refers to the building now used as the central fire station.

IN AN OLD CORNERSTONE. From the New York Sun.

An interesting service took place a few days ago at Portsmouth, N. H., in connection with the opening of the receptacle that was in the cornerstone of the old church, which was sold when it was voted to build a new edifice uptown. It was a picture of three-quarters of a century ago that was brought before the minds of the people as they took out the articles one by one among them was a copy of Zlon's Herald dated October 28, 1844. There was a quantity of British and American coins of that date and earlier, as well as some from other countries. A history of the church, records of prominent families connected with the society and a sketch of Portsmouth and its shipping were found. One of the oddest things taken out was a paper containing "directions for making and taking emetics."

At first such a document strikes one as humorous, but there is in it a forceful commentary on the wonderful changes that have taken place in three-quarters of a century. When it is realized that medical knowledge was in such a state at that time that directions of this kind were considered of sufficient importance to be placed in the cornerstones of a church building, the great progress of these years is eloquently emphasized.

Priged prayers were evidently in much favor, for the receptacle contained three prayers, two of them "for the success of the church." Another side light on the change that the years bring—this one in the ethical realm—is furnished by a lottery ticket. It is one bearing the inscription: Union Canal Lottery Ticket, 141760, Portsmouth, 1828. It is safe to say that there will be no lottery ticket in the new cornerstone!

THE HASKIN LETTER

THE FISH INDUSTRY XI. FISHING LAWS By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

Because the fishing industry was one of the oldest upon this continent it was one of the first to be considered in international treaties. From the foundation of the government to the present time, questions pertaining to this subject have been continually before the department of state. The conditions affecting the fishery industries of Canada and the United States were considered by a special court at The Hague peace congress from June 30, September, 1906, and occupied the attention of the civilized world. The final treaty resultant of this peace congress went into effect only last month, but it is believed that it will finally settle the disputes which have existed between the two countries for more than a century.

The treaty of peace between the United States and Great Britain, concluded in 1783, had as its third article the provision that the former should have "the unmolested right to take fish of every kind upon the Grand Bank and on all other banks of Newfoundland; also in the Gulf of St. Lawrence and at all other places where the inhabitants of both countries used at any time heretofore to fish." It restrained them from the right to dry or cure fish upon the islands or along the coasts of British territory, but secured them this privilege in any of the unsettled bays, harbors or creeks of Nova Scotia, the Magdalen islands and Labrador, so long as they remained unsettled, with the proviso that it should not be lawful for American fishermen to dry or cure fish there after this territory became settled without a previous agreement for that purpose with the inhabitants, proprietors or possessors of the ground.

After the war of 1812, a dispute of opinion arose as to the validity of this treaty. The United States claimed that it remained in force, while England contended that it had been abrogated by the war. The dispute caused great difficulties for American fishermen until a new treaty was made in 1818. This practically gave Americans the same rights as the former convention, excepting that they were restrained from taking, curing or drying fish within three marine miles of the territory upon which the first treaty they were only forbidden to dry or cure fish. It gave them the right, however, to enter the bays, harbors and creeks along the shores for the purpose of shelter, repairing damage, purchasing wood and obtaining water, "but for no other purpose whatever."

THE HAGUE HEARING. The court of The Hague tribunal before which the hanks were presented consisted of five members appointed by the permanent court of arbitration. To it were submitted seven questions covering the main points of dispute. The contentions of both nations were prepared beforehand and presented to the court in printed form. The United States was represented by six printed volumes containing "The Case for the United States" with two appendices, "The Counter Case for the United States" with appendix and "The Argument for the United States." The whole series contained about 2,500 pages and a similar amount of material was prepared for Great Britain. The oral arguments, which constituted the principal part of the proceedings, were delivered by four of the counsel for each nation. They consumed 40 sessions. The concluding arguments, which supposedly summed up the situation, were delivered by Sir William Robson, attorney general of Great Britain, and Senator Elihu Root, who had been secretary of state when the negotiations were concluded.

The most important part of the subject was covered by the first question: "To what extent are the following contentions or either of them justified? The contention of Great Britain was that the liberty to take fish was subject, without the consent of the United States, to reasonable regulations by Great Britain or Canada or Newfoundland in the form of municipal laws, ordinances or rules as, for example, regarding the time when fish may be taken, the implements to be used or any other matter of a similar character, such regulations being supposedly responsible for the protection or preservation of the fish or desirable upon the grounds of public order or morals. They are supposedly fair and equitable as between local fishermen and the inhabitants of the United States so as not to give one class an advantage over the other.

Interests Clash. The United States contended that the liberty granted in the treaty of 1818 was not subject to any limitations by the British government in the way of municipal laws, ordinances or regulations, "unless their appropriateness, necessity, reasonableness and fairness be determined by the United States and Great Britain in common accord and the United States concur in their enforcement." The award of the tribunal upon this question was that as the sovereignty of Great Britain was involved upon one hand and the fish-ers' rights of Americans upon the other, the right of Great Britain to make regulations governing her own territory without the consent of the United States was inherent with the British sovereignty.

Question Two dealt with the employment of Canadian or American Newfoundlanders to fill up the crews of American fishing vessels, which practice was condemned by the English. The tribunal awarded the decision that the inhabitants of the United States had a right to employ such persons, but that such employees would derive no benefit or immunity from the treaty. The subject of requiring American vessels to report at custom houses or subjecting them to an enforced payment for light, harbor or other dues when they enter a port for coal, shelter, water or wood according to the rights given in the treaty, were covered in questions three and four. While supporting the American rights, the tribunal held that these privileges should not be abused by American fishermen whose vessels should not remain in such bays or harbors for a longer period than 48 hours without reporting, either in person or by telegraph, at a custom house or to a custom official.

The fact that the Newfoundland government had in contemplation the presentation of a heavy claim for the value of the cod habitat and harries, which

WEST FRONT OF COURT HOUSE LOOKS LIKE NEW

The Tejon street frontage of the court house presents a new and clean appearance, as the result of an application of sand blast, the modern method of restoring the exterior of stone buildings to their original cleanliness and beauty. The building is actually secured by sand driven under high air pressure, removing the last particle of grime and making the structure fairly shine with cleanliness.

The cleaned surface makes the other sides of the building appear dingier than ever in contrast and the comparison is noticeable to every passerby. As a result, little is added to the beauty of the building by cleaning only one side, and contrasting the grime on the other frontages. The Tejon street side will be completed this week by L. D. Meyers & Co. of Denver, who have the contract.

Armour Co. to Build Cold Storage Plant

A cold storage plant and wholesale warehouse to cost in the neighborhood of $25,000 is to be built this winter by the Armour Packing Co., on East Huerfano street, the lot having been purchased from W. H. McIntyre for $8,000. The property is the only remaining wholesale site with trucking facilities and negotiations have been underway for some time for its purchase.

The company's rapidly growing business and the necessity for a cold storage plant has brought about the building, work upon which, it is said, will be started after January 1, 1913.

MRS. GAINES RECEIVES GIFTS FROM "HER BOYS"

"To Mother Gaines from Her Boys of the Police Department." Mrs. D. F. Gaines, who was injured Thanksgiving morning in a runaway near the Portland mill, proudly displays a card with the above inscription as she shows the hundreds of flowers given her Sunday by members of the police force. Mrs. Gaines' husband was with the department at the time of his death.

"About five or six of my boys from the police department came in yesterday," she said last night, "carrying a five-foot box. 'What's the matter, boys?' I asked. 'Are you bringing me my casket?' And then they showed me what was in it, and it was all these pretty flowers. Everybody's been kind to me since I was hurt," she continued. "The neighbors, and Dr. Peters, and Mrs. Cooper, the nurse, and especially my boys."

Mrs. Gaines expects to be able to get down town Saturday. She will be forced to discontinue her tourist-driving because of her injury, but will keep up her Christmas work as before.

SAYS HUSBAND FORCED HER TO TOIL IN FIELDS

Married life was a long chapter of drudgery and abuse for Lillian Schmidt, according to her allegations in the county court. The grounds of cruelty she was granted a divorce yesterday from Joseph H. Schmidt of Colorado City, and given $100 alimony. Mrs. Schmidt declared that she had never known a moment's peace since she married Joseph Schmidt in 1907, over with three small children in Colorado Springs, August 1, 1907. Her husband abused her, she said, when she received visits from relatives and accused her of spending too much money, telling her that it was better to live a cook than to be a woman.

One day last August, she said, Schmidt pointed to the door and dramatically told her to go. She refused to obey, and then Schmidt threatened to shoot her. She said she was forced to leave her husband and children and to go to her father's home in Colorado City. She said she was forced to work in the fields like a man and to pick potatoes, cutting beans and stacking hay.

Colorado City DEPARTMENT

MAYOR SAYS HIS ORDERS HAVE NOT BEEN OBEYED

Saying that he brought the matter up before the council to emphasize the orders which he had given Chief of Police Tawes, and that the council might aid him so that he would not have to go to the district attorney for results, Mayor Humble last night declared he had information to the effect that the boys again occupied and that night there was a common occurrence. This fighting, he said, had culminated in shooting on the night of Saturday, November 23. The mayor said he understood negro women in the quarter were being run out of town, but that white women were unmolested, and that he had ordered the chief of police to get rid of all the women.

Chief Tawes, in answer to the mayor, said that certain negroes had been made to leave town because of bootlegging, and for other reasons. He added that he had inspected the district, and that there are now no women in the houses except those taking care of them. There was general disagreement in the council as to whether the houses were occupied, and it was suggested that women were brought over to the district late at night from Colorado Springs. Because of the disagreement, the discussion was dropped with the understanding that if any women were brought over from Colorado Springs, as had been suggested, the night police were at once to break up the practice.

Routine Bills Allowed.

Routine bills were allowed, with the understanding that in the future all expenses for elections are to be kept in a separate account. Routine reports of officers were received. The city treasurer reported his receipts from April 1 to November 1 as $19,881.62, and those during the month of November as $7,493.37. The fire department answered six calls during November, all of them for minor fires. The chief of police reported 17 arrests during the month, and the police magistrate $40 assessed in fines and $32 in costs. For various reasons, none of this money was collected.

THE DAY'S NEWS IN SPORT CIRCLES

NEW RULES SAVE FOOTBALL BY MAKING IT MORE POPULAR

By W. J. MACBETH.

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—Last Saturday's game at Franklin field, Philadelphia, between the Army and Navy, wound the football campaign for 1912. The crowd just closed was an exceptional one in many ways and doubtless the best of many years.

The success of sport depends directly on its popularity and in this there was nothing to be desired. Never in the history of the great gridiron competition did such crowds manifest their enthusiasm. It was a treat just to watch the magnitude and exuberance of the crowds that cheered on the contestants in the Harvard-Princeton, Princeton-Yale, Yale-Harvard, Penn-Princeton and Army-Navy battles. In one of these contests there was a vast seat and every field was packed every battle throughout the season. The multitude at the Yale-Harvard game would have reached a hundred thousand, doubtless, if the New York crowd could have accommodated that many. The crowds as a rule every game played in the east were lifted only by the stand capacity.

Saved Great Game.

All of which is a tribute to the genius of the rule makers. They have saved a game which five years ago appeared certainly doomed. It took a lot of tinkering and experiment with the rules to restore the big game to its former popularity. That happy condition seems to have been accomplished. Football as played today seems to be a safe and sane competition in which brain power counts more forcibly than brute power. Colleges which had the bars up against the sport because of the alleged danger and cruelty of the old game, returned this season to the fold, which tried the experiment have no regret. The new football game seems here to stay.

Under the circumstances it is to be hoped that the governing body at Columbia will see the light of reason and one another year will allow this school to get in line once more. It is told that the student body and many of its institutions will make one of the most gallant efforts to overcome faculty prejudice against the game, now that a season's campaign proved so clean. It is indeed a shame that New Yorkers at travel out of town to see all their best when such a big college as Columbia is right at home. It is true, both Army and Navy, but neither of them play the game, but neither ever here to attain the distinction of a game alone would lead Columbia to this university returned to just what it is the football intercollegiate championships.

Columbia Expectant.

Columbia men have taken renewed courage from the fact that Fortnightly finally yielded to the demands of the students. The faculty never once recoiled the step. For husky boys from the Bronx school, the able tutelage of Tom Thorpe, a mighty good account of themselves. They met and conquered a lot of presumptuous rivals despite the fact that Thorpe had nothing but men with which to work. It is to be remembered that football had been played at Fordham for three years. It was a dead letter. There is absolutely no experienced material. Any believe it but a question of time before Columbia will get in line with the old-time football honors. But Thorpe's play the more arduous task of putting her once in the front ranks. It would be three or four years as it is to be into line a team worthy of recognition by any of the big five eastern universities. The sooner Columbia returns to the fact that the ban on football has hurt the university. Athletes lined toward the gridiron sport, who finally should enroll at the local college go elsewhere.

Many Heroes Made.

The past football campaign established many heroes on enviable pedestals, but the majority of them are sea veterans like Thorpe of Carlisle; Witt of Princeton; Devore of the Army; Bonebrake, Yale; Blumenthal, Princeton; Koetham, Yale, and half a dozen others that might be mentioned. Thorpe of the Indians, proved himself one of the finest football men that donned a cleated shoe. Yet all of the veterans did no more than was expected of them.

More remarkable than the work of so was that of three young fellows, who for their varsity letters the time watched the greatest evidence of their seasoned teammates. Harvard produced her sensation in Brickley, while Princeton uncovered a storm of equal worth in "Hobbs".

REMARKABLE PICTURE OF ATHLETIC CLEARING BAR IN HIGH JUMP IN PARALLEL POSITION

The above photograph depicts P. Sproule of the Stone school, U. S. Army, crossing the bar in one of the most peculiar attitudes ever caught. When the artist clicked the camera the jumper was within a few inches of the bar. The expression on his face plainly shows that he has overcome all his energy in an effort to make a clear leap. The tension of the muscles of his arms and legs can be noticed. The whole picture really is a masterpiece of the natural spring of a man.

It is without doubt the most original and odd photograph ever taken of an athlete in strenuous action. The "doubting up" when in the air is following the English idea of high jumping. This method is almost opposite to the system adopted by the American jumpers, and according to results, the latter is the superior of the two.

An American jumper clears the bar first with his legs and drags his body over by the natural swing. This method prevents any waste of energy, something which foreign methods still fail to follow.

BUNDY AND SUTTON PLAY LOVE GAME IN EARNEST FOR TITLE

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—Frank Bundy and Ed Sutton, both of the National Tennis Association, played a love game in the final round of the National Tennis Championships at the Longwood Country Club, Longwood, Pa., today. Bundy, who is the defending champion, won the match in three sets, 6-4, 6-3, 6-4.

The match was a very close one, and Bundy's victory was a surprise to many of the spectators. Sutton, who is a very strong player, was expected to win the match. Bundy's victory was a great achievement for him, as he has never before won the National Tennis Championships.

The match was played in front of a large crowd of spectators, and the atmosphere was very exciting. Bundy's victory was a great triumph for him, and he is now the National Tennis Champion.

Play for Title in 18.1 Billiards

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 2.—The world's title for the championship of the 18.1 billiards will be played in this city January 9, 10 and 11. George Sutton, having challenged Ora Morningstar of this city, present holder of the title, to play for the title.

The match will be played in the city of Pittsburgh, and the winner will receive a purse of $1,000, offered by Harry Davis of Pittsburgh. In addition, Sutton and Morningstar have agreed to play a side bet of $500.

One of the interesting features of the match is the fact that Sutton is a native of Pittsburgh, while Morningstar is a native of New York. The match is expected to be a very close one, and the winner will be a great achievement for him.

M'GOORTY AND GIBBONS DECIDE TITLE TOMORROW

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—The middleweight boxing title, which has been kicked around like the Ozark dog since the death of Stanley Ketchel, is in a fair way to be decided here tomorrow night, when Mike McGorty and Eddie Gibbons, generally recognized as the best middleweights in the world, will fight 10 rounds in Madison Square Garden. It will be the most important bout of the year, and the immense amphitheater is expected to prove inadequate for the throngs that will apply for entrance.

Decision Only.

Since Billy Joh, the referee, will not be permitted, under the law, to name the winner, the battle will not be exactly a title match; but, if there should be a knockout, or if either man should win in decisive fashion, the championship will be settled to all intents and purposes.

It will be a battle of cleverness against terrific punching power. Gibbons, the "Blondie" and McGorty, the "Cokebush" child, have proved themselves out of the class of all other fighters of their weight in America. In less than a year both have fought their way from public obscurity to the front rank. Gibbons, a year ago, was a welterweight and, as such, whipped all aspirants in that brigade, and whipped them proper. He became widely recognized as the cleverest boxer in the ring. His poundage, however, was a trifle large for the welterweight division, so he enrolled with the middleweights, notwithstanding that he suffers a disadvantage in weight in fighting members of the latter class.

McGorty Favorite.

McGorty, by his one-round knockout victory over Dave Smith, the Australian champion, and Jack Harrison, holder of the British middleweight title, topped off a long string of triumphs that proved him a real ring general with a real wallop.

The followers of Gibbons are an enthusiastic legion, who have watched his ring work in amazement, admiration, and believe that nothing less than a heavyweight can get inside his wonderful defense with a finishing punch. McGorty says that the St. Paul boy is a good welterweight, but that his career as a middleweight will end tomorrow. Eddie has gone so far as to announce his plan to "take on" Frank Klaus next. Klaus has the strongest claim for a match with the new champion, if such is decided tomorrow.

Army and Navy Scrap Over Game

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Dec. 2.—When the football game between army and navy at Philadelphia ended last Saturday, the agreement covering the playing of these contests terminated and negotiations for their continuance as a new plan will begin shortly.

While there is every reason to believe the annual match will continue indefinitely, the athletic authorities of the two schools will now have to agree on the date for playing future games. The question nearly caused a break three years ago. Representatives of the naval academy favored the Saturday after Thanksgiving, while the authorities at the military academy insisted on the Saturday before. Finally a compromise was reached whereby army and navy this year selected last year and navy this year.

VANDY STARS IN GAME FOR FORESTERS

Herb Vandemoer, idol of football and track fans at Colorado college for the last three years and one of the greatest athletes in the west, was seen in action on the football field for the last time yesterday afternoon at Washburn field, when he was the star in the game.

between the foresters and engineers of the institution, won by the foresters to the tune of 25 to 0. Vandy was himself again, in spite of not having played for a year, and his rigorous training in Manitou park with the forestry school put him in good shape. Long brilliant end runs, beautiful punts that the engineers could not handle and a terrific defense made Vandy the star of the game, scoring three of the four touchdowns.

In the forestry lineup were Floyd, who man last year; Hill and Sternberg, all star players who had been practicing for the last two weeks for the game. It was a loosely played affair with much excitement and interest shown, but the engineers were out-weighted and out-kicked at all times.

KILBANE AND DUNDEE SIGN UP FOR MATCH

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 2.—Johnny Kilbane, featherweight champion, will defend his title at the Vernon arena against Johnny Dundee of New York, either February 22 or March 17, next, according to a message received today from Jimmy Dunne, the champion's manager.

Dunne telegraphed to Promoter Tom McCarey that the latter's terms for the match were satisfactory, and that the fight would take place on one of the two holidays mentioned.

INDOOR BASEBALL TO START TONIGHT AT Y. M. C. A.

The indoor baseball league will open its winter series tonight at the Y. M. C. A., when the Powell-Donner and Holy Name teams will cross bats. Barnes and Haas will be the battery for the Holy Name aggregation, and Nicholson and Menard for the Powell-Donners.

IN THE WAKE OF THE NEWS

When the new Metropolitan Golf association handicap list makes its appearance, the chances are that there will be a rearrangement of the leaders. In the opinion of a member of the Metropolitan association executive committee who discussed the subject last night, it is all wrong to have so many at scratch. The present list contains Jerome D. Travers, Fred Herreshoff, Oswald Kirkby, Walter J. Travis and Albert Seckel.

"In my opinion," said the official, "the only player who belongs on scratch is Jerome Travers. There is no question that when he settles down to it and plays his game he is two strokes better than any other amateur in the east, and the best proof of this is shown when he is asked to play over a testing course, one where a variety of shots is brought into play."

Another man in close touch with the workings of the Metropolitan handicap committee stated that in his opinion Travers should go at scratch and Walter Travis be placed at 1 with Kirkby, Herreshoff and Seckel receiving 2. So far as actual tournament play during the last season is concerned, Travis has done better work than either Herreshoff or Kirkby, while Seckel is back in the west, and for that reason his name is likely to be dropped from the sheet.

With regard to the handicap question, it is understood that the Philadelphia association intends to try to induce the Metropolitan committee to center for the purpose of getting the ratings of the two associations on a more even basis. Over Philadelphia way it has long been contended that the Metropolitan figuring of par has been a trifle "liberal," and it is the desire of the Pennsylvania body to carefully analyze the courses of both associations for the sake of uniformity.

LEAGUE TO PROBE BRESNAHAN AFFAIR

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—President Lynch, of the National League, today sent out a call for a meeting of the board of directors on Monday next, the day before the annual meeting of the league on December 10.

The meeting of the board has been called to decide the status of Roger Bresnahan's contract. Bresnahan had a five-year's engagement to manage the St. Louis club, but was released after serving only one year. Bresnahan was in New York shortly before the legal inquiry and asked President Lynch what his status he defined by the league directors.

S.S.S. CURES CATARRH

When we say S. S. S. cures chronic Catarrh we do not mean that it merely checks the symptoms for a time. Some local applications will do that simply cleansing and soothing the irritated mucous membranes. But the while the cause which produces Catarrh is left in the system, and soon as the local treatment is left off, the trouble returns with all its annoying symptoms. S. S. S. cures Catarrh by cleansing the blood of all pure Catarrh matter and at the same time building up the system by unequalled tonic effects. It goes into the circulation and attacks the cause at its root, and removes every trace of impurity that is causing trouble. Under the purifying effects of S. S. S., the inflamed membranes are healed by rich, pure blood which is carried to these parts, the massive discharge from the nose ceases and severe headaches and neuralgic pains are no longer felt. In fact every symptom of Catarrh disappears, stomach is toned up and the disease is thoroughly cured. Thousands of chronic cases of Catarrh of the most stubborn character have been completely cured by the use of S. S. S. The inflammation which produces Catarrh can never be permanently relieved until the cause has been removed from the blood. This S. S. S. will do, and then nature hastens the work of perfect health. Book on Catarrh and any medical advice free to all.

STARS FOR THE LAST TIME

Two views of Herbert Vandemoer, Colorado college athlete, who yesterday demonstrated that he had not lost the knack of playing better football than everybody else on the field. Vandemoer was the chief attraction at the game between the foresters and engineers at the institution.

TOD SLOAN WINS $150,000

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—That Tod Sloan, the once famous American jockey, had made a real killing on the French tracks which netted him about $150,000, was the startling piece of information furnished by a French American jockey who is a great favorite abroad, when he arrived on the Kaiser Wilhelm steamer. The news was greeted with considerable excitement along Broadway, where Sloan is known to have been a pretty good boy financially for the last four or five years.
